CAMP INTRODUCES THE LATEST IN EROTIC GIZMOS

June has Juned once again and with the promise of swooning and spooning comes the blissful boon that is camp. This year the powers that be want all of the eager campers to know that they have spared no expense in acquiring and installing the all of the latest, most "of the moment" sexual doodads and furbelows, in order to ensure that every kinkster, even the most jaded, has a Leather Retreat experience that surpasses the norm on every level.

To take just one example: look at the awe-provoking engine depicted above, Known as the "Patented Gyno-Occilo Pulverisor", its makers claim that it is capable of reducing even the most inhibited of persons to pools of whimpering post-orgasmic jelly. Your valiant editor has not been personally able to test these assertions, since the young woman currently modeling it, a Miss Hortense "Kelvinator" Fetherspaugh cannot be induced to relinquish her seat for love or money, saying only "Yes, it is exceedingly nice indeed" and "Fuck off, buster. Can't you see I'm busy here?" We can only wish Miss Fetherspaugh well in her futher frolics with the Pulverisor, and hope that when the time comes she remembers where the paper towels and Windex are located, so that the rest of us can get a turn.
